

On 22nd March 2022 at 7.00pm Laila Asfoura will be in Worcester at St Georges Hall as part of her country wide tour to talk to all of our contacts about the current situation in the Holy Land and how our brothers and sisters are faring after two years of pandemic without pilgrimages.

We will try to use the evening to bring you up to date on how Friends of the Holy Land are faring in this country as well.

As always seems to be the case, our information evenings tend to coincide with a major conflagration or cataclysmic global event that takes the eyes of the world. But at Friends of the Holy Land, we are committed to that land of our Saviour and the brothers and sisters who now look after it. So forgive us for pressing on with informing everyone about the situation there. We will also try to remind you of the places and atmosphere that all pilgrims experience when visiting and prepare you for your own reflections during Holy Week this year.

We do hope that you will find the hour or so devoted to this presentation and update of great interest in the middle of Lent. As befits the subject of the evening, it will be a low-cost evening with a cup of tea or coffee and a biscuit. But you can be assured of a reflective and involved time and an opportunity to talk to and question a lady who has been at the heart of our mission since the Charity was first envisaged in 2007.
